Profile

I've worked with many people both in creative fields to business professionals to produce high quality design work that meets and surpasses their expectations, meeting clients where they are and acknowledging their ideas for a visual representation of their business or creative works.

Freelance design work

Working with musicians from around the world has been something that I've found very fulfilling as there is some great material created by the artists to inspire me to create something visually stunning and memorable, from psychedelic and surreal paintings to vector illustrations they all come with unique outcomes that respond to a realized album or track.

Album art designer

This project involved working with a New York musician named Aviv Cohen on his underground album of ambient, electronic rock genre, which was sparked off by an online conversation about art and painting which lead to us working together and communicating to coordinate a theme to focus a painting around. We decided on the word "transportive" as we thought his music had the effect of capturing you and transporting you elsewhere. This theme was represented in a painting showing a portal opening above a human figure as it expands.

Social media assistant

Working for a small business managing their social media presence and creating various graphic content exhibiting the excellent products they serve. This role involved taking photos of food items and creating typographic posters highlighting deals and seasonal promotions. This role offered an opportunity to show some creative flair and a chance to communicate the atmosphere of a young and vibrant social hang out location as well as a flourishing food business.
